Efforts are being made by the police to learn the identity of a man who died hortly after being placed under arrest by police of the Ninth precinct yester-day. About 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon a little girl came into the station house and informed the desk sergeant that a roughly dressed man was chasing girls in the vicinity of Ninth and E

The girl said that the man had tried to grab her while she was walking on Ninth street northeast. When the police arrived they found the man leaning up against a fence, where he had fallen and struck his face on the rall. He was hurried to the station house in a state of semi-coma. An effort was made to revive him with strycurine, but he died short time afterward.

Although the Coroner has taken no action as yet, officials at the Morgue say there is every evidence that the man was a victim of alcoholism. It is sald that he stopped at the Central Union Mission last week. The police, owever, are unable to get any clue to his identity at the mission.
